Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 11 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showers, occasionally heavy, and continued strong winds, possibly gales.

Today:
Heavy morning showers in the north ease to leave a mostly dry and bright day. Although the chance of gusty showers and even hail remains possible, especially in the afternoon. Strong winds and risk of gales, easing later. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Some lingering showers in the evening. Overnight, clear skies for many but the odd downpour still remains likely. Becoming cloudy with patchy rain by dawn. Breezy with strong gusts throughout. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Friday:
Strong winds and patchy rain to start the day, with conditions largely turning direr and brighter into the afternoon. Further heavy downpours to arrive in the evening. Remaining windy. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Blustery showers and sunny spells on the weekend, with risk of hail. Winds remain strong Saturday, easing Sunday and temperatures around average. Cloudy with rain later on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.